AN OLD LAWYER'S STORY.

A great many years ago, while I was comparatively a young man, help and still unmarried, I resided in a 1 t certain city in Pennsylvania, and enjoyed the reputation of being the strange mystery in this affair. but slender, and she eked it out by taking a few boarders, generally beneath her roof. Madame's friends pitied her. The rest of the little world hinted that these were stran-in Madame's possession. No one two men should have met sudden deaths in the same house. But my faith in this theory was shaken when, one morning, it was publish-

Thus, without any new light, I went home and formed my plans. There was but one way in which to penetrate the mystery. I must enter the house; I must see the people there; I must penetrate to the room in which these men had died so sud-denly, and I must not be known in my real character. That Madame Matteau was innocent I fully believed, but that some one beneath her roof was guilty, I made no doubt. It might be the librarian, Mr. Bassford, whose key fitted the dead man's door. It was possible; but no, I would not harbor a mad superstition. There could be no supernatural power beneath which human beings drooped and died. Death, as it came to us, was mystery enough. What had been said to me by a woman, who would have been a spiritualist had she lived today, was a mere absurdity. (To be Continued.)

the Great Blood and Humor Remedy.

[From the Cleveland Sunday Morning Voice] That Frazier't Root Bitters possess an effency greatly superior to any other preparation for searching the blood with which we are a quaintel, we can testify from actual observation. We know many instances where individuals to years afflicted, have been be unanently restored to health by their use. Mr. France, the proor hearing by these use. Shi related, the pricetor, is a resident of this city, and is with known as one of our most prominent has a nown as one of our most prominent but hese ien. His reprenees to the great value of hi toof Bitters, are also persons well-known a itizens of standing and integrity, in whose statements implicit confidence may be placed and their testimory may be taken as conclu-sive evidence of the estimation in which Mr Frazier's remedy is held, particularly at home Here it has already attained that position that requires no recommendation, having stood the test of trial here. We can say with saf-ty, and test of trial nere. We can say with sairly, and or recommend with entire confiden e, its use elsewhere, by all who may be afflicted with any kind of weakness or humor in the blood, as the most searching, strengtlening and healing remedy of which we have any knowledg Sold by druggists and at country stores.

FRAZIER-I wish to inform you, what our medreine has done for me. I was afflicted with Catarrh in its worst forms for many years, tried various medicines recommended by I tried various medicines recommended by Physiciars, which proved but a tempoary relief. By the advice of a lady who was cured of this same disease by your Root Bitters, I procured one half dozen bottles and they have accomplished a perfect cure in my case. Believing that the sands are dragged out of a miserable existence from the effect of Catarrh. I cheerfully recommend your Root Bitters to all who are similarly affected.
